

Adaptation Observations

Head outside with paper and pencil and look for adaptations. Record your observations in writing or by drawing. Share your findings with others!

Hints:

- Why does a cactus have waxy skin and needles?
 - Why does a rose have thorns?
 - How did the sunflower get it's name?

Adaptations are special characteristics that enable plants and animals to survive in a particular environment.

