Special Considerations in Color and Texture: Advanced Watercolor Workshop

Materials Needed:

- Paints: Look for professional grade watercolors. Winsor Newton and Daniel Smith are good brands. I prefer tubes, but half pan kits are very good.

Basic/Primary Palette: Winsor lemon, Winsor yellow, scarlet lake, quinacridone rose, french ultramarine, prussian blue. Daniel Smith makes a kit of the six primaries

Also useful are: sap green, quinacridone gold, quinacridone magenta, burnt sienna, neutral tint

- Brushes: Round watercolor brushes with good points. Size 0 and 6 are good sizes, but this depends on your preference. Winsor Newton, Daniel Smith, Sceptre Gold, and Princeton are good brands. Look for a sable or synthetic/sable blend with a good point.
- Watercolor paper: HOT PRESS 140 lb or higher – look for Fabriano or Arches brand. DO NOT BUY COLD PRESS PAPER.
- Mixing palette: white porcelain plates are available for a few dollars at Target. You can also use plastic palettes with multiple wells – look for one with a lid.
- Misc: Plastic tubs for water – empty cream cheese or butter tubs work well! Viva brand paper towels – look for paper towels without a printed pattern or design (no “quilting”)

The following supplies will be helpful but are optional. If you’ve taken a drawing class before, you probably have all of these:

- Saral graphite transfer paper
- Tracing paper
- Pencils: 2H, H, and HB graphite pencils, mechanical pencils, or lead with holder. Please bring a handheld sharpener as needed
- Kneaded eraser, white vinyl eraser (Magic Rub or similar)
- 6” or 12” ruler (clear ones are great!)
- Drafting tape
